

INFANT IBUPROFEN RECALL NOTICE

Middleton Families,

Tris Pharma is recalling some infant ibuprofen sold at Walmart, CVS Pharmacy and Family Dollar stores nationwide because the popular pain and fever medicine may contain overly high concentrations of the drug. Packaged under the private-label brands of the three major retailers, the label on the recalled product says it contains 50 mg of ibuprofen per 1.25 mL, according to the the New Jersey drugmaker.

Tris said there is a "remote possibility" a higher level of ibuprofen could lead to permanent kidney damage in babies. Other possible adverse effects include nausea, vomiting, stomach pain and diarrhea, as well as tinnitus, headache and stomach bleeding.
